The motel is less than a mile north of campus, so walkable, and they have a shuttle. They include a breakfast. Reminder: our group rate ["CMSN Group"] is $89.99 per night + 10% tax. You should pay for the room with your credit card and submit to Ames Lab for reimbursement. (The idea of prepaying rooms proved bureaucratically unfeasible.)

The Comfort Inn is not far from the Greenbelt Metro station. The motel has a shuttle bus which runs (from the hotel) every hour on the hour, 8–11 am and 4–9 pm. To be picked up at the Metro station shortly after the hour, you MUST call the motel to let them know before the hour, i.e. before the bus departs. For the adventurous, it is a 2 km. walk (Not recommended after dark! See the Google map for the route; you can walk through an underpass to get across the tracks to Lackawanna St.) or a 10-minute bus ride (C2 toward Wheaton to Baltimore Ave. and Greenbelt Rd., and walk 0.07 mi.; alternatives with slightly longer walks: R3, C9). You will likely prefer a short (but more like 2+ miles due to the roads) cab ride to the hotel. From Reagan National you can get to the Greenbelt station directly by Metro: yellow line to Mt. Vernon Sq./7th St./Convention Center (end of line), change there (or as early as L'Enfant Plaza to improve chances of getting a seat in times of high travel) to green line (same track) to Greenbelt (end of line). From BWI an express bus, # B30, (http://www.bwiairport.com/ground_transportation/washington_dc_wmata/) goes non-stop (taking ~1/2 hour) to the Greenbelt Metro station, but it runs only every 40 minutes (schedule downloadable), so if the timing is bad, one is left with SuperShuttle or taxi. (The B30 bus leaves BWI Stop 2 at 4:20 pm, and every 40 minutes before and after till 10:50. (Leaves 2 minutes earlier from Stop 1, takes 32 minutes to Greenbelt Station.) It costs $3, and exact fare is required.)

The Comfort Inn shuttle bus can take a load of you to CSIC on Friday morning.

Attendees arriving on Friday should go directly to Campus. If coming from Reagan National, take Metro and disembark the green line at College Park. There is a campus shuttle bus running frequently that will take you to Campus Dr. For its times and route, see <http://www.transportation.umd.edu/pdf/CollegeParkMetro.pdf> From Greenbelt Station, take a cab. Of course, from either airport Supershuttle or cab can get you to UM.

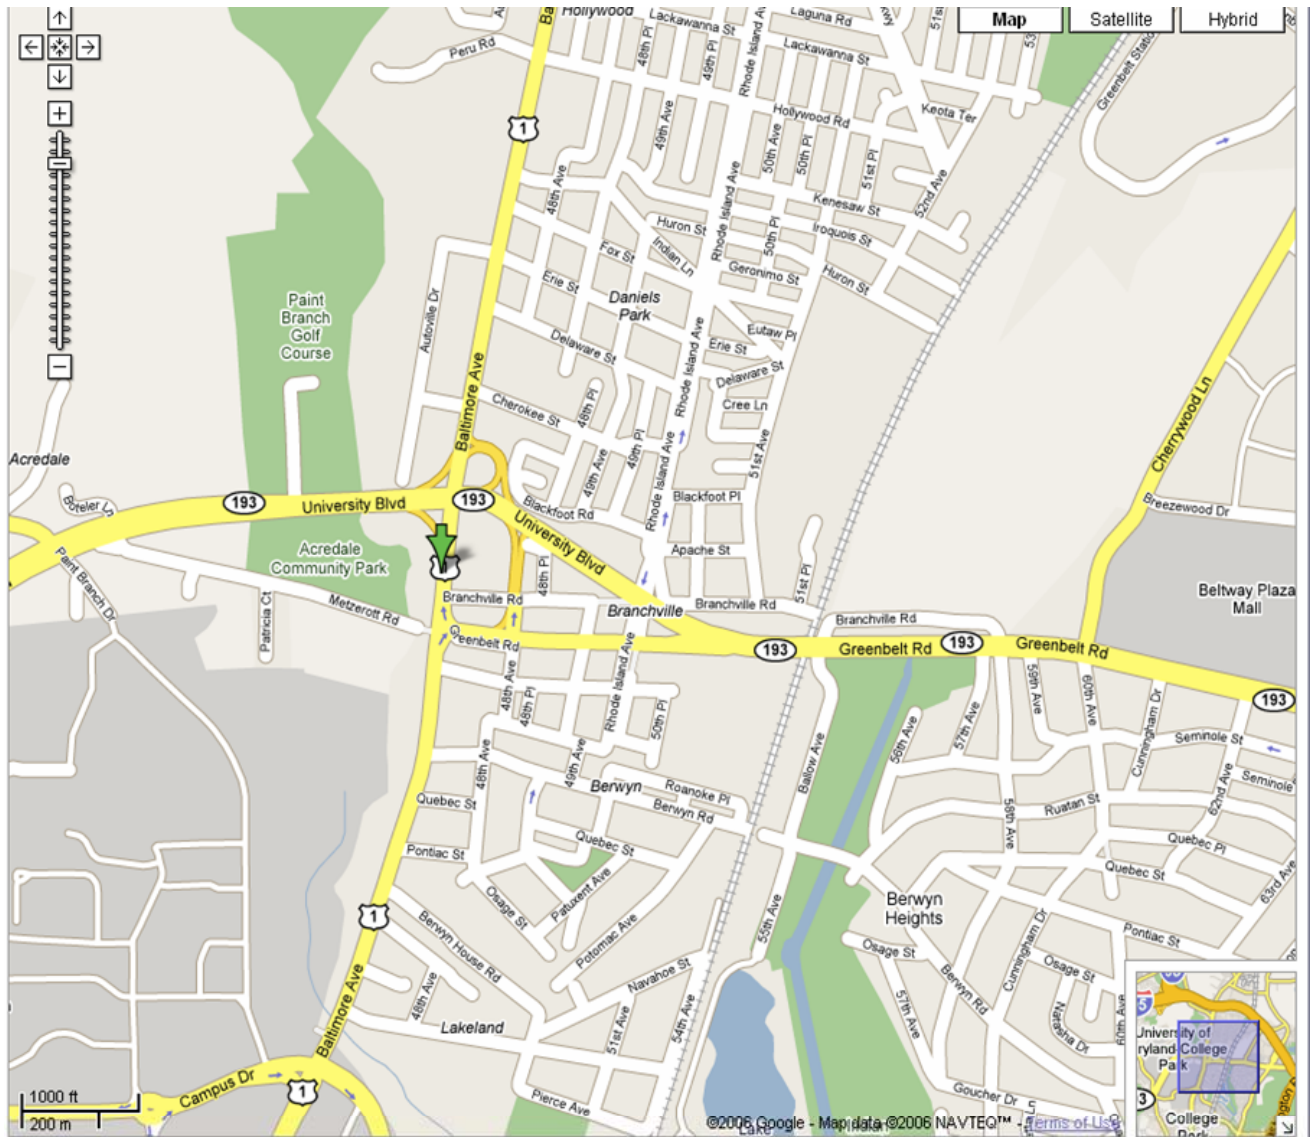

NOTE: UP on the campus map is WEST!!!

CSIC is #406, on the lower right

Physics is #082, on the upper right, to the right (north) of the traffic circle with the big M

Comfort Inn is on Baltimore Ave. (U.S. 1), far off the map to the lower right

This map from Google is oriented conventionally, with NORTH pointing UP. Comfort Inn is marked by the arrow sitting on the US 1 shield. The University of Maryland campus is the gray area on the lower left. The intersection of Baltimore Ave. and Campus Dr. on the previous map is by another US 1 shield. The traffic circle with the big M is by the right end of 1000 ft. indicator in the extreme lower left. The tracks carry Metrorail. The Greenbelt Metro station is on the upper right, not marked, inside the looping Greenbelt Station Road. The College Park Metro station is where the extension of Campus Dr. (called Paint Branch Parkway) intersects the tracks (off the map).
